Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
2. Claim 2 recites the limitation "keyboard". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Objections

3. Claims 1 and 2 are objected to because of the following informalities: There are no structural interconnections between the piano and the suction cup. Appropriate correction is required.
4. The following claim has been drafted by the examiner and considered to distinguish patentably over the art of record in this application, this claim is presented to applicant for consideration:

A safety device in combination with a piano having a keyboard lid and a platform to prevent lid-slamming comprising:

A suction cup releasably secured to said platform;

A rod having a first end pivotally connected to the top center of said suction cup and a second end having a rubber roller rotatably affixed and engaging said keyboard lid; and a stopper piece on the top center of said suction cup to control the erection angle of said rod.

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Spears and Wilson disclose the use of suction stopper devices. Inoue and Kuwahara disclose the use of safety devices for piano lids.
